

Huiying Cao is a cello major student in Central Conservatory of Music Middle School, and a student of "Cello Family" as well. Her father is her first cello teacher. She has been under the tutelage of Professor Jia Yu. Because of her outstanding music performance, she has been first place at the exams in cello major at school. She also has interests in many different areas.

In 2020, Danubia Talents International Music Competition ,Category C, Second Prize;

In 2017, she took Second Place in The 7th National Cello Competition of Aiqin Cup.

In 2010, she took Third Place in The 4th National Cello Competition of Aiqin Cup.

In 2017, Huiying participated in the recording of “Song of Saliha Program ” at CCTV.

Huiying participated the masterclasses of Lynn Harrell, Li Wei Qin, Mingqing Yu, Ludwig Quandt, Martti Rousi, Lizhuo Bao, Bosnian Tian and got praise from these prominent performers. She also received the appreciation from the prominent performer Qianci Liu, Director of the Big Apple Music Festival in New York, Executive Director of Paulus Hook Music Foundation of the United States, and Executive Director of New York International Symphony Orchestra.

As the principal cellist of National Symphony Orchestra and Junior Symphony Orchestra, Huiying has traveled and performed in the different cities in Asia and China. She has also been invited to perform at the opening and closing ceremonies for multiple times.